in 2023. Members were asked to note the 3 different approaches being taken to progress the work.

- a) Blood pressure – taking a data informed approach with co-designed interventions.
- b) Smoking – using the Population Intervention Triangle to strengthen links between the service, civic and community centred parts of the system.
- c) Employment – creating a cultural shift and building an employment collaborative

The Partnership considered the presentation and: -

1. Noted and endorsed the proposed approaches for each of the exemplar themes.
2. Endorsed the continuation of the Exemplar Themes Steering Group to allow progression of themes in between Health and Wellbeing Partnership meetings.
3. Noted that detailed action plans would be developed for each exemplar theme.

During the discussion, members referred to the value of contributions offered by the district authorities and agreed to develop and promote this vital role.

Some members expressed concern about the themes being 'over medicalised' and of the resources available to fulfil the ambitions set out in the papers. Other members referred to the financial investment needed to progress the work and of the time and effort required from individual organisations. It was agreed to explore the concerns in more depth, and in the meantime, to continue to work in partnership to overcome any obstacles.

Angela Claridge from Cotswold District Council offered to work with Gemma Artz to consider the issues in more detail and this was welcomed.
